

Caitlyn Tiodor

GSSNE Alum

Meet Caitlyn Tiodor. She is 19 years old and a proud GSSNE Girl Scout Alum. She completed a successful Marketing & Design internship with GSSNE during the Summer of 2018!

“In my thirteen years as a Girl Scout, I learned that it was okay to stand out in a crowd. I was able to discover my own voice as an activist and as a presence in the world I live in. Through the Girl Scout Cookie Program, in which I was top seller several years in a row, I learned how to manage a business—from finances to marketing design. The marketing and design experience made a measurable impact and is currently my major in college. I believe that being a Girl Scout is extremely important for girls because it helps them discover self-empowerment. It teaches them to work for what they want and to not apologize for being different or driven.

I would not be who I am today if it hadn't been for Girl Scouts.”

Your financial support is so very important as we build the next generation of empowered young women—young women just like Caitlyn.
